

More on Gunther

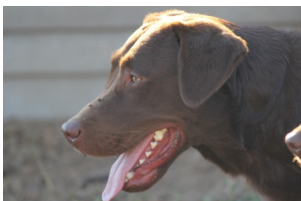

Written by Ronel

Monday, 07 March 2011 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 18 January 2015 11:57

Meet our Labrador Retriever Dog Family - Gunther

Meet Gunther, our chocolate Labrador Retriever male.

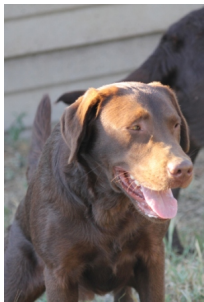

He comes from great blood lines.

More on Gunther

Written by Ronel

Monday, 07 March 2011 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 18 January 2015 11:57

More on Gunther

Written by Ronel

Monday, 07 March 2011 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 18 January 2015 11:57

Here he is at the back with Grace (right) and Gwen (left).

D.O.B. 28-12-2011

He is registered with KUSA with good HD/ED parentage lines.

HD Score		ED Score		PRA
C1	C1	0	0	Carrier

Please contact us for more info.

Short description on the Labrador Retriever dog breed:

The Labrador retriever, also known as Labrador or Lab, is one of several kinds of retrievers. Labrador dogs belong to the gun dog group. Labradors are athletic, playful, and the most popular breed of dog by registered ownership in Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and the United States (since 1991).

Labradors are relatively large, with males typically weighing 29 to 36 kg and females 25 to 32 kg. Labradors weighing close to or over 45 kg are considered obese or having a major fault under American Kennel Club standards, although some Labradors weigh significantly more. The majority of the characteristics of the Labrador, with the exception of colour, are the result of breeding to produce a working retriever. (Wikipedia)

Keywords: labrador retriever, labrador, retriever, lab, chocolate labrador retriever dog